Cut Your Shoe Bills With Neolin Soles

"The answer to the problem of shoe wear lies in the use of Neolin Soles," says H. L. Evans of Steubenville, Ohio.

"For five months," says Mr. Evans, "I have been wearing the same pair of Neolin-soled shoes at my work at the La Belle Iron Works and they are good for two months' wear. As my work takes me to all parts of the mill daily, where I have to walk over cinders, slag, etc., it is simply out of the question to buy anything else to take the place of Neolin Soles."

You, too—and your whole family—will find Neolin-soled shoes wear long and so save money. You can get them in the styles you like at almost any good shoe store. And any repairman will resole your worn shoes with Neolin soles—scientifically made to be durable, comfortable and waterproof. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

FOR NATION'S LEAGUE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.
SIOUX CITY, Iowa, April 17.—Several things are as clear as daylight in Iowa. The league of nations is popular. The democratic administration is decidedly unpopular and the "never again" chorus of those who voted the democratic ticket last time and will not do so again is large among the independent voters, of whom Iowa has quite a number.

Some say the Iowa is prosperous and thriving. Her farmers feel much better about the fixed price of wheat than they did a few months ago, but unwilling to forgive the failure to fix the price of cotton and other commodities. Returned soldiers are being given employment right and left, and the Sioux City Journal today, for example, published statistics showing that there were many more jobs unfilled than there were persons to fill them.

No Bolshevism Trouble.
Of bolshevism and industrial trouble there is very little. The non-partisan league has not made much headway here. This is a peaceable community in which former President Taft gets a big crowd to hear his talk on the league of nations on one night, and the mayor of the town consented to address the national convention of the agricultural division of the I. W. W. on another night.

Some say the mayor believes he can do more good by talking to the I. W. W. than by refusing to attend their meetings. Mayor Shott is a union labor leader himself, having been elected on the labor ticket. He testified for the I. W. W. at the Chicago trial and a petition was circulated hereabouts to bring about his recall, but not enough people would sign it, so the effort failed.

But speaking of the administration and its decline in such prestige as it had here, I find that the democratic Congress and the democratic cabinet, and the fact that Mr. Wilson rubbed the people the wrong way by his action in the Senate, both before and after his first trip to Europe—all this contributed to the "never again" sentiment.

Mr. Burleson Criticized.
But if there are degrees of unpopularity, this is the region where Alvin Karpis, Burleson is strong, and for most criticism. The increase in telegraph rates has not so much raised Cain as the alleged inefficiency of the service.

Editorials like this, from the Live Stock record of today, are common. "The acting editor of the Live Stock Record, who was for many years an ardent subscriber to the beautiful theory of government ownership of public utilities, is reluctantly forced to confess that he has seen a great light in recent months and has definitely arrived at the conclusion that here is another case where theory fails to square with practice."

This morning at 1:30 o'clock he received for a telegraph message filed at Miles City, Mont., at 7:21 o'clock yesterday morning by Editor Y. A. Hartman.

It is the little things like these, constantly recurring as they are under the close and careful administration of the government, that finally furnish a convincing load of proof. And they have been coming in so many of them in recent months. As the Scotch say: "Many mickles make a muckle," but the telegraph and telephone administration is not alone. Dissatisfaction over railroad rates is deep-rooted. There is a feeling in this section that the republican Congress is going to remedy many of these evils, or, if it fails now, that it will surely do so in 1920.

For League of Nations.
As for 1920, sentiment has hardly crystallized on candidates. The republican sentiment in this state is men like Borah who fought the league of nations are not understood. Everybody, out here, in fact, every newspaper of importance—is for the league.

Some have been critical and didn't like the covenant or the way Mr. Wilson presented it, but the view was not obscured by personalities or partisanship.

This is the region where the desire to be kept out of war if an honorable means were available was perhaps strongest in the United States.

Also this is the region where, once the United States entered the war, they furnished the bulk of the men who made the American Army the most robust and powerful on the western front. And now that the war is over, they haven't lost any of their enthusiasm for peace. If anything, it has been intensified. And public opinion is a unit for the league on the theory that in international understanding lies the safety of the world.

Both Senators Kenyon and Cummings read carefully in their statements on the league and, as a consequence, are not embarrassed. They can vote for the treaty and league without seeming to have been inconsistent, for the document has been amended so much as they pointed out it should be.

Has Presidential Timber.
Iowa is proud of her senators and thinks she has a presidential candidate in Kenyon. He has made no move to get a boom for himself going; in fact, he modestly refused to let others get the impression that he considers himself a candidate, for he does not. Still if the republican party is looking for a type of a man who would measure up to middle-western ideas of democracy Kenyon is that type.

Talk Gov. Frank Lowden of Illinois also is heard. His record, coupled with the fact that Iowa is next door to Illinois and overhauled when a governor makes good in the adjacent state, would account for his seeming popularity.

Taft Heard Enthusiastically.
Former President Taft has spoken this week at Des Moines and Sioux City on the league of nations and has been enthusiastically received. He told the reporters while here that he was out of politics, but people persist in talking of his availability for the presidency. The republican party unquestionably has a strong hold on Iowa, but not a permanent grip. They are not convinced out here that the "old guard" has reformed, and while they like Will Hays and his progressive talk, they wonder if he or anybody else can make the ultra-conservative Congress next fall consent to a leadership of the progressive sort.

Many a query is heard as to how the republicans are going to be led, and there seems to be a general feeling of regret that "the republicans have no leader," which, from the many times I have heard it, leads me to conclude that the middle west does not believe in the majority rule, at least, that it does not want to see the men who "led the republican party into the war" put in control of our party policies again. The lesson of 1912 may have made no impression in some parts of the east, but out here they consider it was a victory for progressivism and that 1918 also showed the color of midwestern politics.

Idolized Roosevelt.
This territory is Rooseveltian. It idolized and worshiped him and would have been almost unanimous for him had he lived to be a candidate. Gen. Leonard Wood is regarded as the heir to the Roosevelt strength, particularly by soldiers.

He makes a good many speeches and travels considerably in the central west nowadays, as he is on the liberty loan committee for this district. This is fortunate, for it gives the people the chance they have wanted to see Gen. Wood and hear him talk.

Iowa would probably vote for Kenyon or Lowden in the national convention or Wood if his name is presented, but in the last analysis it would not object to Taft particularly if he seemed to be the spontaneous choice of the majority of elements of the republican party, and incidentally Mr. Taft's attitude in opposing some of the senators who fought the league of nations idea has not hurt him a bit with those people who wish he had done a little of that nine years ago.

BREWERS SHIP BEER TO HASTEN TEST CASE
New Yorkers Claim 2 3-4 Alcohol Percentage Is Within the Food Law.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Brewers of the New York district took action yesterday intended to speed court determination of their claim that beer of 2 3/4 per cent alcoholic content may be produced without violating the food conservation regulations, when two of their number began distribution of a brew of the strength specified in barrels bearing labels describing it as a non-intoxicating beverage. The kegs, sent out without revenue stamps which the collector had refused, carried tags announcing that sums equivalent to the cost of the stamps had been deposited in banks to await the claim of the government. Attorneys for the brewers, who advised their action, declared that other manufacturers, in New York and elsewhere throughout the country, also would begin distributing.

Thirty Cases From D. C. Among Shipments for First Half of April.

Seventy thousand books and 30,000 magazines were shipped, to France by the American Library Association during the first half of April for the soldiers overseas.

These shipments included thirty large cases filled with magazines contributed by the people of Washington. It is reported at the American Library Association headquarters in the Library of Congress that the magazines contributed by Washington are exceptionally good, most of them being current issues.

"But we want more," said Miss Muriel Wright, in charge of the drive that during the last half of this month more than fifty cases of magazines will be available. Shipments are made every day and the people can be told that magazines given this week will be actually in use in France or Germany before this time next month.

The American Library Association also wants books, especially good recent fiction such as that by Zane Grey, Burroughs, Harold Bell Wright and others. Collection centers for both books and magazines are maintained at Woodworth & Lothrop's, Kann's, the Public Library and Takoma Park Library, at all the high schools, at the Chevy Chase post office, Knickerbocker Theater, Union Station, Chamber of Commerce, Rialto Theater, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and several War Camp Community Service clubs.

U. S. ARMY TO COME HOME SOON, HOPE OF SECRETARY DANIELS

COBLENZ, Friday, April 18 (By the Associated Press).—Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels, speaking to the men of the 2d Division of the American army of occupation this afternoon, told his audience that he hoped the Army would be taken home as soon as possible.

"As captain of the ferryboats which brought the American Army to Europe," he said, "I wish to say that I have under my command seventy thousand American boys who also are clamoring to return to their homes. I have told those sailor boys they would get home, but that first they must help get the boys who fought in France and Belgium."

Mr. Daniels contrasted today's assembly with that of the Germans who stood on the same ground in 1914 before beginning the war.

"Their chiefs," he said, "had visions of conquering the world, but America entered the war without desire for territorial gain."

The Secretary's reference to the soldiers' return home was answered with cheers and shouts of "How soon" were heard. When asked for the dates when the men would be taken back to America the Secretary smiled but did not answer.

This morning during the review of the division the Belgian Order of the Crown was conferred on Capt. Gaines Moseley and the Order of Leopold on Capt. Robert Balke. Both are officers in the Marine Corps. Thirty-three distinguished service crosses and sixty-five French war crosses were presented to officers and men of the division.

On the reviewing stand with Secretary Daniels were Mrs. Daniels, Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickmire, commander of the 3d Army; Maj. Gen. John A. Le Jeune, commander of the 2d Division; Brig. Gen. John L. Hines, com-

BLADENBURG-ANNAPOLIS ROAD IS TO BE BUILT

Bids for Construction of First Section Are Asked for by Maryland Commission.

The Good Roads League of Prince Georges county, Maryland, and the American Automobile Association have won their long fight for the construction of the Bladenburg-Annapolis road.

The Maryland state roads commission has asked for bids to be opened April 29 for the construction of the first section of this road, known as the defense highway from Bladenburg running toward Lanham, Md., a distance of 1.63 miles. A concrete road sixteen feet wide is the standard adopted. A section of the Annapolis end, it is said, will be started soon. Bids have also been asked for a section of 1.67 miles of road running from Largo toward Hall's station, in addition to these and as a part of the proposed highway the county commissioners of Prince Georges county have asked for bids to continue the work to extend Rhode Island avenue through Mount Rainier, a distance of 1.10 miles.

Are You Interested in Russia?

DO YOU realize that the Russian problem at this moment is the fundamental European problem, and therefore the fundamental world problem of today? Peace in Europe is impossible without Russia. The League of Nations is impossible without Russia becoming an orderly democracy and a participant in the League. The peace and happiness of the entire world depend upon the establishment of a stable, democratic government in Russia.

STRUGGLING RUSSIA

A New Weekly Magazine Devoted to Russian Problems

The first four issues of the magazine contain articles by Catherine Breshkovsky, Alexander Kerensky, Nicholas Tchchaikovsky, Paul Miliukov, Leonid Andreiev, Vladimir Bourtzef and others.

What Is Bolshevism?

Russia and the League of Nations

Writing on Bolshevism, Catherine Breshkovsky, "The Grandmother of the Russian Revolution," says:

"LENINE'S tyranny, just like the Tsar's tyranny, is the rule of a small minority over a great people, through armed force. The absurdity and criminality of the Bolshevik tyranny is evident. There is one hope for Russia, and a very strong one—that is our peasantry. This class cannot long endure the chaos brought about by Bolshevism. The existence of their families, of their husbands, is at stake. Traditionally they are religious and they ask for justice and truth. And there is no doubt that under the general depression and anarchy which is ravaging Russia, there is a strata of strong characters and honest souls that will finally tear off the crust of vice and depravity from the body of Russia and prove their ability to be good citizens of their country and true friends to their countrymen."

("Struggling Russia," March 22, 1919)

The Threat of Bolshevism

Discussing the spread of Bolshevism in Central Europe, and the relations between Russia and the Allies, "Struggling Russia" says editorially:

"RUSSIA'S sacrifices and sufferings have been so enormous and her present situation is so pitiful that nothing can happen which can possibly make the situation in our country more grave. We have sounded the depths of all possible misfortunes long ago, and the situation grows worse not for us, but for our friends. Will the Allied nations understand, with the Bolshevik infection going deeper and deeper, nearer and nearer to their hearts, that the Russian problem is the problem and that it is necessary to take it up and solve it once for all time, engaging for its solution all the available moral and material resources?"

("Struggling Russia," March 29, 1919)
